

C++ supports classes and inheritance, which allow existing code to be reused by creating new classes from existing ones.